To whom it may concern,

I am writing on behalf of Nick Gadler regarding my personal experience with his Wave Wrecker wetsuit. Nick was kind enough to give me a Wave Wrecker before leaving to travel the coasts New Zealand and Mexico over a year ago, and thankfully has not asked for it back now that I've returned home to California. Being an avid surfer of over 20 years and having a good amount of experience bodysurfing with swim fins and handplanes, I was excited to try his new invention. I'd like to relay my experience to you in this letter.

At this point in time I've had the opportunity to try the Wave Wrecker in a variety of ocean conditions and can say with confidence that it provides a new and positive experience in bodysurfing that cannot be obtained using other conventional bodysurfing 'tools' alone. The most noticeable effects of the Wave Wrecker are the added buoyancy and control it provides. The addition of the foam fins allows me to catch waves more easily, stay in the wave longer and position myself more purposefully while riding the wave. Simply put, it makes bodysurfing more fun.

When used in conjunction with swim fins and a handplane, the Wave Wrecker has provided me with some of the most enjoyable bodysurfing sessions I've ever had. Consequently, I believe that the Wave Wrecker wetsuit would make a great addition to the tool set of anyone who enjoys or wants to learn the art of bodysurfing.

Best,
Eric Young
